

I am firmly against the proposed change to Broadcast Ownership regulations.

The concentration of power into the hands of large corporations is a primary factor in the current demise of democracy in the United States. Democracy requires that voters are aware of current issues, and concentrating media power into fewer hands will directly impede the ability of Americans to have access to unbiased information regarding these issues.

Without access to a wide range of information, the public will be more easily manipulated by those in power. I feel that this is exactly the intention of those who support this change to broadcast ownership.

Americans are relying on YOU to do the RIGHT THING.

Sincerely-
Jeff Bradley
